FILTROS DE HABITÁCULO CFH

También conocidos como filtro de habitáculo es una versión más pequeña y más densa del filtro de aire, se inserta en los sistemas de aire acondicionado y es la última línea de defensa para evitar que el polvo no deseado, los alérgenos y las partículas penetren en el interior del automóvil.

La mala calidad del aire dentro de la cabina produce cansancio e irritabilidad en los ojos, malos olores, y proliferación de bacterias. Los filtros de aire de habitáculo o cabina de Croix garantizan el confort, así como aire fresco en su automóvil, ya que liberan prácticamente todo el aire que entra en el vehículo de: polvo, polen, hollín u otros contaminantes que son sustancias que provocan problemas de salud, especialmente a personas asmáticas y alérgicas.

Aunque pocos conductores lo saben, un filtro de cabina sucio no sólo es ineficiente, sino que restringirá el flujo de aire en la cabina de tu automóvil. Esta restricción en el flujo de aire significa que otros componentes del sistema de aire acondicionado y de calefacción tendrán que trabajar más. Con el tiempo, esto provocará la falla de algunos de estos componentes, posiblemente causando costosas reparaciones sin mencionar la baja calidad del aire que circula en el interior de automóvil.
